Public Warehousing

Is public warehousing right for you? By providing open ended, short-term arrangements for control of excess inventory or delivery to local customers, public warehousing adds scalability to your supply chain by providing the following advantages:

Specialization

Spartan Warehouse & Distribution is an expert in the storage and delivery of commercial goods. By outsourcing this function, you can concentrate on what your company does best and leave the safety, security and delivery of goods to us.

Flexibility

Do your inventory requirements change seasonally over the course of a year? Why build space, buy equipment, and hire employees when you only need storage 6 months a year?

Meet customer commitments

If your customer needs just-in-time delivery, we can receive your goods by truck or rail and ensure on-time delivery from a local warehouse. In addition, we can maintain an inventory of items in stock to avoid your production problems from hindering your service to your customers.

Lower costs.

As a small, flexible company, Spartan has lower costs and overhead than our customers. We can perform many functions for our customers at a lower cost than they can be performed by their own employees.

Experience

Spartan's officers have over 100 years combined experience in the trucking and warehousing industries. Our on-site supervisors each have at least 5 years experience in the industry. We have custom-designed software designed for the warehousing industry. We have already solved many of the problems our customers turn to us for help with.

Special Projects

Do you have a one-time need for repackaging, testing, or sorting of your goods? Do you have goods on quality-control hold that are clogging your current logistics flow? We can help by providing a short-term outlet.

Transportation Services

Spartan maintains a modern fleet of tractors and trailers. All trailers in the fleet are 48 or 53 feet to maximize your freight dollar. We have convenient freeway access in all cities in which we operate to minimize transportation costs. The following are examples of how this service has been integrated with our warehousing to maximize customer convenience.

- Dedicated plant – to – warehouse shuttles.
- Delivery of Vendor Just-in-time supplies to warehouse with local delivery by Spartan to ensure timely delivery of goods
- Dedicated shuttle delivery of warehoused goods to your customers
- Cross-dock rail receipts for local delivery
- Scheduling of loads for areas where we do not provide service.
- Spotting services at your plant
